4. Why we collect personal data

We have a few key priorities when it comes to protecting your personal data. Not only do we prioritize keeping your personal data safe and secure, we are also highly focused on protecting your privacy rights and freedoms as an individual.

4.1 Legal bases.

All personal data we process is lawfully obtained and will only be processed to the extent we have a legal basis to do so. The legal bases we rely upon for processing of personal data are: (a) consent, (b) performance of a contract, (c) compliance with a legal obligation, and (d) legitimate interest.

As indicated above, we process personal data on a limited set of legal bases:

- Explicit consent from the data subject.
- Performance of a contract.
- Compliance with legal obligations applicable to us.
- Our legitimate interest.

4.2 Purposes.

We process your personal data to conduct and expand our day-to-day business, such as for analytical improvements to the website, support, sales, and legitimate business purposes. Personal data can also help us improve the quality of our website and to develop new functionalities to fit the needs of our customers, such as products and experience personalization.

We only request personal data that is necessary to fulfill the specified purposes listed below as applicable to you; provided, however, if the nature of our relationship with you changes, we may need you to provide additional information. For example, if you fill out a form to request more information about one of our services, we will use your contact information to send the requested services information to you. If you then decide to become a customer, you will need additional information.

The following is a list of purposes for which we may use your personal data. The specific purpose applicable to our processing of your personal data depends on the nature and extent of your relationship with us.

- To promote the use of our services in accordance with your marketing preferences.
- To share relevant information about our services in accordance with your marketing preferences, including important notifications about the services.
- To schedule a meeting with you to provide more information about our services.
- To provide customer support and communication.
- To analyze usage of our website
- To enforce compliance with the Terms and applicable law.
- To keep our site safe and secure.
- To detect, prevent, and combat fraudulent or unlawful activity.
- To protect the rights, property, or safety of us, you, our other customers, or any other third party.
- To meet legal requirements, including complying with court orders, valid discovery requests, valid subpoenas, and other appropriate legal mechanisms.

5. Retention terms

Daccs does not retain personal data for longer than is necessary for the purposes for which your data is collected. If possible, personal data will be pseudonymized.

The following retention terms apply:

Personal data of active enquiries	Until the relationship and the archiving period (please see below) have ended.
Personal data of archived enquiries	20 years from the date the enquiry has been archived.
Cookie information	A maximum of 6 months (please see our cookie statement for the expiration time)

6. (Categories of) recipients

Daccs may use third party services to process your personal data in line with this Privacy Policy. Some of these parties act as processors for Daccs and the Daccs ensures that these parties provide sufficient safeguards in terms of technical and organizational security measures. With third parties that act as processors for Daccs, we have entered into a processor agreement that provides that they will only process data in accordance with the Daccs' instructions.

Daccs will only share your personal data with third parties to the extent necessary for the purposes mentioned in this privacy statement.

In cases other than those referred to above, Dacs will only share your personal data with third parties if you have given your consent to do so, in order to comply with (legal) obligations or if this is necessary for the legitimate interests pursued by Daccs or third parties. If possible, personal data will be pseudonymized.

7. Transfers of third countries

Your personal data will only be stored or processed outside the EU/EEA by us or by third parties if this is in accordance with the applicable regulations for the transfer of personal data to countries outside the EU/EEA. This means that we will only transfer your personal data to countries outside the EU/EEA if the European Commission has decided that the third country in question guarantees an adequate level of protection, or if other appropriate safeguards are provided, such as an adequacy decision or the use of unmodified standard contractual clauses that have been approved by the European Commission.
